DETAILED ACTION

The Examiner of Record has changed from Virginia Portner to Jennifer Graser.

Election/Restrictions

Applicant's election with traverse of Group I, claims 10, 11, 25, 26 and 31 in the reply filed on 1/26/06 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that the methods use the protein of Group I and it would not place an undue burden on the Examiner to search the methods with the claim. Applicants' arguments are persuasive and the method claims (claims 16-22) have been rejoined.

Claims 10, 11, 16-22, 25, 26 and 31 are currently under examination.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claim 17 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 17 recites that the polypeptide is administered in the form of a 'host that expresses the polypeptide'. This term is vague and confusing because it is unclear what else besides a cell would have the ability to express the polypeptide.. It appears that Applicants intend to recite 'host cell'. Correction is requested.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

Art Unit: 1645

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 10, 11, 25 and 31 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as being anticipated by Wolf et al (different inventive entity) (Submitted. Jan. 1994. UniProt Accession # P53509).

Wolf et al disclose a protein which is 100% identical to Applicants' SEQ ID NO: 9. The compositions of claims 11 and 25 only require the protein and therefore are anticipated by Wolf et al.

5. Claims 10, 11, 16, 17, 18, 19, 25 and 31 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Wolf et al (1989, Infect.Immun. 57(1): 164-173).

Wolf et al. disclose compositions that comprise CS6 protein from E.coli E8775, the same strain from which the protein of SEQ ID NO: 9 was isolated. One of the disclosed compositions that comprised CS6 proteins was an agarose gel containing the CS6 16 kDa band (Figure 3, a type of acceptable carrier). An additional composition that comprised the W8775 CS6 protein was a saline extract of E8775 (see page 167, col. 1, paragraph 1). The protein was used to generate antisera. Additionally, it was shown that the whole cell bacterium raised antibodies against the CS6 protein. Wolf et al do not disclose the amino acid sequence of E8775 16kDa protein CS6, but the amino acid sequence of a protein is an inherent structural characteristic. Inherently the reference anticipates the now claimed invention. Atlas Powder Co. v IRECA, 51 USPQ2d 1943, (FED Cir. 1999) states Artisans of ordinary skill may not recognize the inherent characteristics or functioning of the prior art...However, the discovery of a previously unappreciated property of a prior art composition, or of a scientific explanation for the prior arts functioning, does not render the old composition patentably new to the discoverer. The Court further held that this same reasoning holds true when it is not a property but an ingredient that is inherently contained in the prior art.

The disclosed protein of the prior art reference appears to be identical to Applicants' protein given the identity of the source. Since the Patent Office does not have the facilities for examining and comparing Applicant's BPIP with the BPIP of the prior art, the burden of proof is upon applicants to show an unobvious distinction between the material structural and functional characteristics of the claimed protein and the protein of the prior art. See In re Best, 195 USPQ 430, 433 (CCPA 19&&).

6. Claims 20-22 and 26 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim.

7. Correspondence regarding this application should be directed to Group Art Unit 1645. Papers related to this application may be submitted to Group 1600 by facsimile transmission.
